

Germany, May, 3rd, 2020

Dear Competitors and Friends of the Parachute World Cup Series,

The Parachute World Cup Series 2020 is officially canceled.

Due to the global corona crisis, we are also obliged to act.

Almost all sports are affected by this crisis, of course also parachute sports and our World Cup unfortunately so that we and our competitors cannot seriously plan for the foreseeable future.

We still hope that some of the organizers will be able to organize individual competitions.

Based on the current and expected situation, there are the following options for 2020:

- Every organizer can run their own competition under a different name and own rules.
- If an organizer can hold a competition under the name of "PWCS" due to the regional situation, this is desirable.
- Such a competition is called "PWCS single competition" and must take place according to the rules of "PWCS".
- The bulletin must clearly state whether it is a "PWCS single competition" with the PWCS rules or not.
- There will be no overall ranking in 2020, there will be no prize money in 2020.

If a competition is postponed or canceled completely, the respective organizer will publish it on their own website at least 30 days before the competition.

Thank you for your understanding.

We wish you all the best of health and hopefully a successful year with many good and accident-free jumps despite the crisis.

On behalf of the organizers,

Gerhard "Conan" Wagner
current President of PWCS
